ernment? Was it not in 1893 when the legislature stood confronted by this calamity, which no one expected, and this tax of 14 per cent on the grow roccipits of life insurance companies was imposed? Walving for the moment the continuous nutral policy buyers pay this tax as surely as that rain descends, have not the life in surance companies contributed their fair most towards meeting the burdens of government? What other corporations, if it please you to see all them, are telay paying a tax on their receipts? I challenge you to designate them.

Suppose Mr. Drow, in the pursuance of your vocation as a reformer, you should introduce a hill imposing a tax of 14, per cent on the grass receipts of all corporations in the State, would' your raise a how that would not subside until your requiem day? Why have you issued your batteries on legal reserve life insurance companies, which have sone more toward givings to the cities of Texas paved streets, sanitary improvements, which have contributed to more miles of rallway, protected more estates from insolvently and provided for more wideas and scribins than any other agency known to our system of economics?

"On the subject of life insurance companies much has been written but the agitation of the subject seems to be largely confined to the insurance journals, which do not reach the masure of the people. A more unjust tax was never laid. * A while it is true the commanies may the tax apparently, yet in fact the policy holder pays it, and his dividend is decreased by the amount of the tax, it being the universal rule of life insurance companies to deduct State, county and municipal texes paid from the dividends allotted to policybolders resident of the State in which such tax is assumed."
